Harvest Investive Work Policy

Applies to Dub Dub, Kipasa, and Trade Center

Prepared for Harvest Investive | Draft date: 02 August 2026

Legal review note: This is a practical draft for internal use. Before signing, Harvest Investive should confirm the correct NEC/CBA, minimum wage, leave, notice, and disciplinary-code requirements applicable to the business and location.

1. Purpose

This policy creates one operating standard for Harvest Investive shops: Dub Dub, Kipasa, and Trade Center. It is intended to protect cash, stock, staff, customers, records, and owner capital.

2. Core Rules

- Every sale must be recorded before stock leaves the shop.
- Every cash movement must have a reason, amount, person responsible, date, and proof.
- No Operations, savings, black box, rent reserve, stock purchase, or banking entry may be made without a matching note or receipt.
- No one may borrow company cash or stock without written owner approval.
- Each shop must close daily with a signed cash count, stock issue note where relevant, and variance explanation.

3. Shop Roles and Accountability

Dub Dub	Two assigned shop employees. Responsible for POS, customer service, cash drawer, stock display, and daily handover.
Trade Center	Two assigned shop employees. Responsible for POS, customer service, cash drawer, stock display, and daily handover.
Kipasa	Two assigned shop employees. Responsible for POS, customer service, cash drawer, stock display, and daily handover.
MD/CEO	Responsible for financial discipline, owner reporting, approvals, staff oversight, procurement discipline, and policy enforcement.

4. Cash Handling Policy

1. Each shift starts with an opening cash count signed by the person taking responsibility for the drawer.
2. All cash sales, EcoCash/mobile money sales, lay-bys, refunds, expenses, savings, black box, rent reserve, and Operations transfers must be recorded the same day.
3. Cash may not be mixed with personal money.
4. Cash shortages must be reported immediately and recorded before the shop closes.
5. Cash overages are company money and must be recorded. Staff may not keep overages.
6. Banking must be supported by a deposit slip, bank confirmation, or owner acknowledgement.

5. Operations, Savings, Black Box, and Rent Reserve

- Savings and black box money must be treated as protected business money, not casual spend money.
- Rent reserve must be ring-fenced monthly. If the company budgets USD 2,000 and pays USD 1,200 rent, the USD 800 difference must remain visible in a reserve record.

- Operations payouts require a category: stock order, rent, tax, banking, salaries, utilities, transport, supplier/payable, maintenance, or owner-approved other.
- Generic labels such as 'Round', 'Balance', 'Person name only', 'Adjustment', or 'Other' are not acceptable without supporting explanation.
- Any Operations payout over USD 100 requires proof. Any payout over USD 500 requires owner approval and proof before or immediately after payment.

6. Stock Purchasing and Inventory

- Stock orders must have supplier, amount, date, receiving shop, expected items, and proof of payment.
- Stock received must be checked against the order before it is sold.
- Damaged, missing, returned, or transferred stock must be recorded.
- Staff may not take stock on credit or for personal use unless authorised in writing.

7. Expenses, Salaries, and Approvals

- Routine shop expenses must be pre-approved where possible and recorded with receipts.
- Salary and wage payments must be recorded separately from stock, rent, banking, and owner drawings.
- Tax must be recorded separately from banking. The business must not hide ordinary cash movement inside a tax/banking label.
- Owner drawings, loans, or advances must be labelled separately and cannot be treated as operating expenses.

8. Attendance, Conduct, and Customer Service

- Staff must report on time, dress neatly, serve customers respectfully, and keep the shop clean.
- Staff must not drink alcohol, use drugs, gamble, fight, harass others, or bring the company into disrepute during work.
- Phones may be used for business communication but must not interfere with customers, cash handling, or stock control.
- Customer complaints must be escalated to the MD/CEO or owner.

9. Discipline and Grievance Procedure

- Misconduct will be handled fairly and proportionately.
- Serious misconduct may include theft, fraud, falsifying records, unauthorised cash use, violence, gross negligence, or deliberate stock loss.
- Employees may raise grievances without victimisation. The complaint must be recorded, investigated, and responded to.
- Where an NEC/CBA or registered employment code applies, it must be followed.

10. Daily Required Records

- Opening cash count.
- Daily sales report.
- Expense and payout register with receipts.
- Savings, black box, rent reserve, and Operations transfer register.
- Closing cash count and variance note.
- Stock received, stock transferred, and stock lost/damaged register.

11. Acknowledgement

Each employee must sign acknowledgement that they received, understood, and agreed to follow this policy. Refusal to follow the policy may lead to disciplinary action.
